Zeek Magallanes

Zeek Magallanes has been promoted to Studio Team Leader at McCullough Landscape Architecture. As the key liaison between management and technical staff, his collaborative leadership style and open, clear communication will empower our design team to deliver high quality work.

“Even under the challenge of working remotely through the pandemic, Zeek has excelled in leading our studio designers as well as cultivating positive relationships with clients,” said President/CEO Catherine McCullough. “Given his diligent, focused approach, we are confident that Zeek will continue to flourish in this new role and serve as a guiding force for the success of the firm.”
